Our robinia monkey bars are perfect for the home and outdoor spaces. They are great for fitness or play, and for young or old adventurers. They can be enjoyed by the whole family and would make a great addition to any garden, playground, or school. Monkey bars are one of our most popular pieces of playground equipment. They are designed for easy installation with superior quality components and a high quality premium finish which never fails to impress.

Perhaps the most fun way to build core strength and to exercise the upper body. They test hand-eye coordination, grip strength and exercise muscle groups that are often neglected. The health benefits that come with monkey bar exercises are well known and are especially important considering the lack of opportunity to exercise those muscle groups in daily life. Monkey bars for the garden can be made lower in height for smaller children so the whole family can get involved.

It is advised in accordance to EN1176 that Instructional Plates are a requirement for outdoor gym equipment in a public space.
